> THE LADY GODIVA .- The town of Coventry in England has lately been the scene of a grand pageant, in honor of the Lady Godiva who took a bare back ride one morning some centuries ago, to free the citizens of tax and tribute. Tenny son's verses have graced the legend and it is now familiar to all who read the poetry of the Laureate. Peeping Tom is known to all the world, even to those who don't read poetry as the man who lost one eye for looking at the lady when he should have been shut up in his shop. The procession is discribed as being very grand. There were squads of the Dragoon Guards; Knights in armor and the representatives of the old municipal corporations in toggery borrowed from the London theatres. Fifteen thousand excursionists visited Coventry to see the sight. The repre sentative of the Lady Godiva was dressed in flesh colored tights, with a white satin skirt. A malicious wag who don't like the position of England just now, says if it had not been for the "white satin skirt" all England would have turn-cd out to see the sight. THE NEWS LOCALLY .- Aside from the stir of business, which was never better in the city, and the excitement of recruiting, there is but little of interest going on in this vicinity. Amusements have died out, and will not be resuscitated until the weather cools. While Cincinnati, Toledo. and Chicago have their riots, growing out of the immortal nigger, we are quiet here on that sacred subject. It is true that a few windy orators have been striving to make it appear that every man who can't swallow Sambo, heels and all, ought to have his house burned or his head cut off, but the common sense of the people teaches them that the worst way in the world to conquer a peace is to incite to riot at home. It has not deterred a man from volunteering, and it won't The hearts of our people are for the vigorous prosecution of the war, and they know that sounding Chinese gongs here won't frighten old Lee at Richmond. They pay but little attention to the gas of the speeches, and reserve their fire for the foe across the border.

Seriousiv, we have a word of advice to give We hope it will be well received, but if it is not we can't help it. Gov. Morton produced a good feeling by his speeches. They were patriotic and sensible. He confined himself to the subject he rose to speak about. All parties were pleased. Some others did not do so. Whether from lack of sense or an exuberance of genius, we know not, but they came near throwing a wet blanket on the pure flame the Governor had kindled. Such speeches might make votes and might into accommodate all who may desire to visit cite riots, but they won't make soldiers, and that is what is wanted now.

From Gen. Curtis's Army. MEMPHIS, July 14 -Gen. Curtis's entire command arrived at Helena on the 11th. The enemy left Batesville June 24, and reached Jacksonport June 26, and on the 2d of July started across the country. On the 4th, when the 13th Illinois was coming down White river with a load of cotton, they were fired on by guerrillas, seven miles below Grand Glasse. The fire was returned and the rebels fled. A contraband was taken on board next day, who says he saw nineteen dead rebels near the scene of action. On the 7th, General Curtis's advance, consisting of a battalion of the 1st Indiana cavalry, 11th Wisconsin, and 33d Illinois, were attacked by two regiments of Texan cavalry and a large force of infantry.

The Federals had four mounted howitzers which were brought to bear on the rebels with terrible effect, causing their cavalry to break in disorder, riding over their infantry, throwing them into confusion and terminating in an utter rout person who will return the horses or give information that a large number of prisoners and afterwards paroled them. After the battle our troops buried one hundred and ten rebels on the field. Our loss is eight killed, among them Captain Sloan, of the 11th Wisconsin, thirty two wounded and Major Glenden, of the 1st Indiana cavalry, seriously injured.

The rebels had no artillery, which accounts for their heavy loss as compared with ours. Notwithstanding long forced marches, short rations, &c., Gen. Curtis's army were in good condition when they arrived at Helena but had but three days' supplies. Southern News.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16 .- The Richmond En quirer of the 12, speaks of Gen. McClellan's defensive attitude under cover of the gunboats as fixed. His only demonstrations on the Confederates until he shall have become resuscitated from late defeats, must be confined to indecisive raids to keep up the spirits of his men. In the meantime we must turn our eyes to the west for more startling events. The movements of Buell and the consequent operations of our own army, are now watched with anxiety and confidence by the Government.

The recognition of Italy by Russia had been telegraphed to Turin. The Daily News says: The Americans in London met on the 4th of July to celebrate the day, but no account of the ready for the plow; a spring emigrant can plant "sed proceedings is given.

The same journal editorially denounces, in America in her hour of trouble. The Morning Star has also a denunciation of the Times for its outrage on American sensibilities on the most sacred of all days to the American people. It hopes that Americans will treat the insolence of the English writers with disdain, and says the writer is not more the enemy of their country than the disgrace of his own. The Morning Herald urges that the prosecution of the war and the celebration of the 4th of July constitute as glaring a case as was ever alleged against a civilized nation, and that if professions meant anything in America the mere read ing of the Declaration of Independence should suffice to condemn the invasion of the Confederate States as atterly inexcusable in principle and erroneous in policy. STATUTES OF INDIANA.

GAVIN & HORD'S REVISION.

The second volume of Messrs. Gavin & Hord's compilation of Indiana Statutes has just appeared. This volume mpletes their work. Its mechanical execution is ver creditable; and the skill, learning, and labor which the editors have bestowed on it, merit the highest praise None but learned, diligent lawyers could have produced

The second volume embraces all the public statutes of Indiana now in force upon the subjects to which it relates, and the first all excepting the acts of the last regular and extra sessions of the Legislature. It is a great excellence of the compilation that all existing statutes on each subject are collected together in the same place in these volumes; so that the reader can see at a glance all the DETROIT. Patriotic resolutions were passed amid Pleas-the editors publish the act at large, and they also much disturbance, and the meeting came to a print, in the form of notes on the same pages containing this statute, all the acts amendatory to it which have been passed up to this time. And so they have done of No. 68 East Washington St. all the other acts contained in the revision of 1852. The editors have added much to the value of these volumes-especially the last-by the copious and learned notes with which the volumes abound. These notes indicate much labor and legal acumen. They furnish us, in a concise and accurate form, with all the adjudications of our Supreme Court on these statutes. These adjudica-
